“Some feedback on how effective the Collis Curve toothbrush is. We first started to use the brushes last year and due to the curved design the people we support have had a great improvement in their oral health. The brush manages to do two jobs at once, while the gums are being massaged by the curved bristles the small inner bristles clean the top of the teeth, thus reducing any possible stress to the user. The angle of the brush also enables the user to reach their back molars and gums more easily. The variety of sizes is also a good idea for those who have a smaller mouth or who may not be able to open their mouth very wide. Our staff have also asked to buy them too!!”
